

Ryder Cup Players to Arrive in Village Today

First Action Scheduled in Pro-Member Tourney

The Ryder Cup teams for 1955 will meet for the first time in Palm Springs this afternoon when Captain Chick Halbert and Honorary Captain Lloyd Mangrum of the United States team will greet Captain Dai Rees and his British golfers at the ramp of their plane at the Palm Springs airport at 3:33 p.m.

Host professional Jimmy Hines will welcome the 10 Britishers to the Winter Golf Capital of the World and to Thunderbird Country Club, telling them of the busy week of practice and competition before the two-day Ryder Cup Match gets under way November 5.

Rees and his nine fellows will join the 10 members of the American team, Mangrum, and 20 invited professionals from all over the country to play in the three-day Thunderbird Pro-Member $10,000 Invitational Tournament this weekend.

FOLLOWING the Pro-Member, the Ryder Cup teams will practice Monday through Friday of next week and then start competition.

The Ryder Cup Match, to be played in California for the first time in its 11-tournament history, will consist of one day of team foursome play, eight players competing on a scotch-foursome basis (each team of four plays two balls each) and then the second day will be four members of each team playing for individual low score.

Most of the Englishmen will be playing on Bermuda greens for the first time. Their courses are generally of rolling terrain and closely packed grass.

THE AMERICANS, having completed at least seven years on the professional circuit, have played on about a dozen courses with Bermuda greens each year.

The Ryder Cup is considered the classic international clash in golf competition. It is played every other year, with the two nations alternating as hosts.

Palm Springs was first considered as the 1955 site when Thunderbird, Tamarisk and O'Donnell became winter golf headquarters for the nation.

NO ONE PERSON can be given the praise for imagining golf in the desert, and no one man could have dreamed or visualized that the Palm Springs area could achieve the national prominence it has.

Thomas O'Donnell built the first golf course in the Palm Springs area in 1927, and left the course for private and limited public play in his will.

Following World War II, Johnny Dawson hacked the trees of the broad nothing of desert that surrounded the Thunderbird Ranch and started building the present course.

Overcoming wind, sand and hardy desert plants, Dawson and his fellow workers opened the private club for golf, and it soon acquired national recognition.

IN 1953, LOUIS HALPER and Joseph Blumenfeld opened Tamarisk Country Club and the first nine holes of the present 18-hole course. They too, had the terrible elements of the desert to overcome, to fight, and they added the tribulation of requiring bent-grass greens, rather than the Bermuda, which is much more of a desert type grass. Putting on Bermuda is a knack which requires much practice for perfection.

With the finest desert course in the world to play on, the thought came to Robert Hudson, of Thunderbird and Portland, and vice-president of the Ryder Cup Committee, that the desert would be the logical place to hold the 1955 matches.

ANZA

The ax is a tool of romance. From earliest history on down through the Stone Age, the Bronze Age, and the Iron Age, and more especially during the time of America's early pioneers, the ax has been the indispensable friend of man. And it is the one thing most liable to be left when moving camp.

Old Doc Beady has an ax he's mighty proud of, claims it came across the country with his grand-pappy in a covered wagon. In asking him about it I commented on the ax because it seemed as good as when his grand-pappy bought it. "Well," replied Doc after a thoughtful pause, "It's had three new blades and five new handles, but excepting for that, she's just the same, sir, just the same."

DENTAL INSTITUTE ENDS WITH SESSIONS TODAY

More than 200 delegates of the American Institute of Dental Medicine this afternoon completed four days of meetings and study symposiums at the 12th annual convention held at Hotel Oasis.

Technical papers, compiled since last year's meeting by five men prominent in the medical-dental profession were read and discussed. They included studies and advanced theories, practical techniques, and dental health progression talks.

THE FIVE SPEAKERS were: Maury Massler, D.D.S., M.S., professor and head of the department of pedodontics, College of Dentistry, University of Illinois; Vally Menkin, M.D., Agnes Barr Chase Foundation for Cancer Research, Temple University School of Medicine, Philadelphia; Hans Selye, M.D., Ph.D., D.Sc., Institute of Medicine and Experimental Surgery, University of Montreal; R. F. Gognnaes, D.M.D., Ph.D., professor of oral pathology and associate dean, Harvard School of Medicine; W. L. Wyllie, D.D.S., M.S., professor of orthodontics and assistant dean of the College of Dentistry, University of California.

Dr. Massler's subject, "Tissue Changes During Aging," focused on the new theories in dental health which have been forced into study because of our increasing life span.

Final Action Urged in City Clean-Up Drive

Palm Springs Clean-Up Month is almost over, and Villagers who have not cleaned their premises are asked to do so immediately.

Fire Marshal Warren Heath, who headed the Clean-Up campaign, today called upon everyone to join in the drive and make Palm Springs a more beautiful, safer place to live and work.

Besides improving the looks of the city, this campaign is a common sense safety measure, Heath said. "Any stray spark in a nearby clutter of dry weeds, dead grass, weathered wood, dead grass, weathered rubbish, and a bad fire could be on its destructive way."

The fire marshal urged householders to "fix up as well as clean up" for the same reason. "Keep all exterior surfaces painted and in good repair, roofs well repaired and chimneys in good working order, fuses properly placed and all wiring in safe condition," he advised.

Heath suggested a slogan for all Villagers: "Don't give fire a place to start—clean up your own premises and half the vacant lot next door."

Accident Victim Dies at Hospital

Lillian Crank of Long Beach, who was injured in a two-car accident, October 16 on Dillon Road, died at Desert Hospital last night.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete, according to Wiefels and Son Mortuary.

First Sports Car Rally to be Sunday

All Palm Springs Sports Car Club members are invited to take part in the first Fall Rally here, the Red Dog Rally, on Sunday, October 30, starting at 1 p.m.

West to Offer Package Deal on Germany

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
GENEVA (UP)—The Big Four foreign ministers met today for an "acid test" conference, with the West geared to offer Russia a challenging peace package in return for a united Germany.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was set to take the initiative for the Western Big Three. But it was feared Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov would try to stall and block the West's move.

Dulles, Molotov, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay met in the Palace of Nations in the first of a series of sessions designed to keep the world on the road to peace against a background of threatened war in the Middle East.

THE QUESTION of European security and German unity was the first item on the conference agenda. But the Middle East and a new crisis in France added possible new troubles to the discussion.

Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett arrived here from Paris to press his demands for Western guarantees of his nation's frontiers and to ask for arms to match the Communist supply of weapons to Egypt.

The West planned to move first and fast. Its views were contained in a nine-page document drawn up beforehand and backed fully by the entire North Atlantic Alliance membership.

THE PACKAGE plan called for:

1. The reunification of Germany by free elections, a goal the West has sought through all the years of cold war.

2. An offer to Russia, in return, of solemn non-aggression guarantees, as a means of calming any legitimate Soviet fears for security.

It was up to Dulles to sell the program at the outset. But Western diplomats frankly were doubtful that Molotov would go along with the plan. They feared he would tie up the conference in procedural wrangles and cause it to end in the same old deadlock—but perhaps with a pollster ending than in the past, so that further talks still would be possible.

Princess and Archbishop in Short Talks

LONDON (UP)—Princess Margaret called today on the Archbishop of Canterbury, Episcopal Church of England. The visit aroused immediate speculation that she had gone to ask for guidance about her romance with Peter Townsend.

The primate of the Church of England received Margaret shortly after 3 p.m. in what could be one of the most dramatic developments in the romance of the Princess and the pilot.

Margaret drove in a royal limousine from Clarence House to Lambeth Palace, the official London residence of the archbishop.

MARGARET'S VISIT lasted not quite an hour. She went directly home to Clarence House. While she was in session with the archbishop, the government again ducked giving an answer in Parliament to a question about her plans. Prime Minister Anthony Eden maneuvered the question period in Commons so that he did not have to reply to the same question posed in vain Tuesday by Socialist M. P. Marcus Lipton.

Lipton wanted to know if the government would amend or repeal the royal marriage act of 1772, the law which would govern any match between Margaret and Townsend. The official question period again expired without an answer.

SO FAR the archbishop, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, has been a silent antagonist of the 25-year-old Margaret's possible marriage to the 41-year-old divorced Townsend.

But he said only two days ago that the church cannot relent in its stand against remarriage of divorced persons because it "cannot change its teachings every few minutes."

The head of the British Methodist Church likewise was critical of the Princess' reported romance.

All Nation Back on Standard Time Next Saturday Night

CHICAGO (UP)—The hold-out part of the nation goes back on standard time Saturday night, ending a $1,500,000 headache for the television industry and repaying about 41,575,000 persons the hour's sleep they lost at the start of daylight saving time last April.

Eleven states returned to standard time September 25, but a dozen others retained daylight saving time for another month. These included New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and about half of Illinois and of Indiana.

SOME ANNOYED TV executives dubbed October the "idiot month." They estimated the conflicts in schedules which called for live shows at

Anti-American Novelist Winner of Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UP)—Author Halldor Kiljan Laxness of Iceland, a onetime monk known for his anti-American views, today won the 1955 Nobel prize for literature.

The 18-member Swedish Academy awarded him the tax-free cash award of $36,720 and the plaque that goes with it for his sensitive novels of the little man in the cold mountain wastelands of Iceland.

The 53-year-old Laxness is a winner of the Stalin prize, and this fact was believed to have weighed against him during the eight years he was considered for the Nobel award.

Floods Plague Northwest, Chill Gripping South

By UNITED PRESS
A frosty cold snap lingered in the southland today and floods plagued the Pacific Northwest.

In marked contrast, a forest fire raged out of control in Montana woodlands and wide areas of the nation enjoyed Indian Summer.

The southern chill relaxed a little after spreading a general frost from Mississippi to the Carolinas. But local areas were still in danger of more frost, with Tuscaloosa, Ala., thermometers registering 37 degrees and New Orleans 41.

In the state of Washington, meanwhile, a 150-foot rip in the bank of a fresh water slough sent flood waters pouring over 1,000 acres of low-lying land near Mount Vernon.

The flood halted harvesting of broccoli crops and the weather bureau predicted rain for the next two days.

Rain was a sorely needed commodity in Montana, where a forest fire blazed out of control across about 2000 acres in the Lewis and Clark National Forest. The fire was apparently started by a carelessly thrown cigarette and it leaptfrogged across Half-Moon Pass towards the Lewistown watershed.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

J. W. Pickell, arrested on a charge of hit-run mechanical damage, entered a plea of not guilty when appearing in justice court Wednesday, and Judge Eugene Theriault set time of trial by jury for 2 p.m., November 22.

State of Union Speech Begun by President

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
DENVER (UP)—President Eisenhower went to work today in his hospital bed on the lengthy task of organizing his 1956 State of the Union Message which will go to Congress in January.

He met in his Fitzsimmons Army Hospital room with Kevin McCann, his chief speech writer, and Major General Wilton B. Persons, deputy assistant to the President, for his first concerted work session on the message.

IT WAS UNDERSTOOD that this morning's conference did not concern actual language, but was a survey of ideas to be incorporated in the most important yearly statement of administration policy to a Congress which will be controlled by the Democrats.

The session was one more significant step in the President's gradual return to a more active role at the government's helm despite his scheduled hospitalization for another two weeks.

THE PRESIDENT'S condition continued to improve today. He slept more than eight hours last night, according to the 7 a. m. MST medical bulletin, and "awoke feeling refreshed and in a jovial mood." No complications have developed. Mr. Eisenhower's White House spokesmen remained firm in their determination to keep a "moratorium" clamped on any political discussion during the President's recovery.

However, Press Secretary James C. Hagerty came his closest yet to being drawn into a political discussion. He said in reply to questioning late Wednesday that he has not been "scooped" yet on the President's 1956 intentions by any of the latest rash supposedly "inside" stories on what Mr. Eisenhower will—or won't—do next year.

HAGERTY ALSO insisted on keeping the "non-political" label on the weekend visits here of two cabinet officials whose jobs link them closely to issues with the strongest political overtones.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson will arrive Saturday to confer with the President on the prickly question of farm prices and possible legislative remedies. Postmaster General

BULLETIN—With 38 scores in, Jack Tooke of Tamarisk and Willie Hunter of Riviera Country Club are tied at 71 to lead the field of 118 golfers in the Southern California Open first round play at Tamarisk Country Club. Other low scorers are: Ed Hamilton, 72; Jim Ferrier, 72; Dale Anderson, 73; Olin Dutra, 73; Dick Campbell, 73; and John Knight, 73. Eric Monti, who holds the Tamarisk low record at 65, stroked a dismal 74 this morning.

Geneva Parley Have Only 50-50 Chance, Warning

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The American public is on notice from responsible men here and abroad that there is no more than a 50-50 chance, if that, for success at the foreign ministers conference which began today in Geneva.

The "acid test" description of the conference is not something new and uttered only after the July Big Four Summit Conference could be carefully reviewed and considered.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER used the phrase last July 25 when he said the "acid test" of July's sweetness and light would come only when the foreign ministers met. They now are meeting. Mr. Eisenhower repeated the phrase Wednesday.

The Big Four at Geneva merely agreed that the foreign ministers should meet to seek solutions to problems which the Big Four cited for their attention. They are the linked problems of European security and German unification and cultural exchanges among the nations.

Not since the Big Four met has there been more than a shred or two of evidence that the Soviet Union will accept any security or unification arrangements which would be acceptable to the Western powers.

BEFORE SECRETARY of State John Foster Dulles took off for Geneva and after he had conferred with Mr. Eisenhower, the secretary could express only "measured hope" for a successful conference.

Western diplomats in London were warning a fortnight ago that Soviet overtures to the Arab states—sale of arms, offers of credit and of technical assistance—marked the beginning of a major diplomatic offensive against the West.

At about the same time the defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization states were meeting in Paris. IDispatches reported that the "Spirit of Geneva" was not in the air there. Instead, the NATO men were told that the Soviet military menace to the West was greater than ever before.

ARRANGEMENTS WERE made, and planning began. The vision of a few men, though none is individually responsible, brought the biggest tournament in the golf world to the desert, where 30 years ago sand and greasewood were the main commodity.

When Mangrum, Herbert, and Rees, and the rest of the today's biggest names in golf shake hands this afternoon, they will finalize the dreams of men who believed in their own ability—just as each of the members of the Ryder Cup teams believes in his own ability to do the best for himself and his country.

Police Noses Too
Delicate for Arrest

DETROIT (UP)—Police questioned John E. Stinson, 29, at a distance Wednesday and decided they did not want to jail him "just because I got into a little old restaurant fight."

The officers found Stinson hiding under a pile of refuse in a garbage truck.

Name Mrs. Benson 1955 Homemaker

WASHINGTON (UP)—Mrs. Ezra T. Benson has been named "homemaker of the year" by the National Home Fashions League, Inc.

The wife of the secretary of Agriculture, mother of six children, said in accepting the award yesterday that women should realize that as mothers and homemakers they have "an important obligation and a sacred trust."

"We indeed are builders of men," she said. "Homemaking is one of the highest qualities of women."

Today, Thursday, is the final day for obtaining absentee ballots for voting in the bond election November 1 to provide for expansion of Desert Hospital facilities, according to Tom Kieley, chairman of the special citizen's committee which is urging a "Yes" vote.

Persons who will be absent from the district on November 1 may obtain ballots by contacting Clifford E. Babin, secretary, Board of Directors, Desert Hospital, Desert Hot Springs.

tion may be worse next year, the Elgin observer said, since there is a chance that more states will adopt "fast" time.

In Wisconsin, for example, proposals for daylight saving time were defeated in the Legislature by a vote of only 53-48. Dairy men had argued the added after-work daylight hours would give people twice as much time to eat ice cream and drink milk.

Their battle cry was, "An hour a day keeps the surplus away."

Stevenson Best
Claims Leader

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UP)—Gov. George M. Leader said today that "currently" Adlai E. Stevenson appears to be the strongest candidate the Democrats could nominate for the presidency in 1956.

The governor told a press conference today that Stevenson "is a stronger candidate" than New York Gov. Averell Harriman.

But Leader added immediately that he is not committed to any candidate "And I don't intend to be at this point."

Owl-Eyed Woman Has to Pay Fine Anyway

VENTURA, Calif. (UP)—A judge Wednesday gave Mrs. Florence Alene Sandberg, 33, of Camarillo, 30 days to choose between a $6 fine or a two-day jail sentence for driving her automobile after dark without lights.

The judge refused to accept Mrs. Sandberg's defense that she didn't need the lights because she can "see like an owl."

Jury Listens to Recordings in MacKenzie Trial

RIVERSIDE (UP)—Secret recordings provided new evidence today in the second bribery trial of former tri-county liquor control officer Harold MacKenzie.

A superior court jury yesterday listened to the recordings designed to prove MacKenzie, former liquor officer for San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, talked to Mrs. Elsie Mickey Jones about a grand jury probe of liquor license irregularities.

The court played one of the recordings, secretly taken by Mrs. Jones, in which MacKenzie told her, "they got a stool pigeon here that's been working for months."

MacKenzie and Edward J. Seeman, a San Bernardino pinball machine operator, are on trial on charges they conspired to ask and receive bribes for issuance of liquor licenses. MacKenzie recently was found not guilty of similar charges.

Air Reservists Enlistments Show Increase

The increase of personnel in the 9348th Air Reserve Squadron, presently numbering 756, has led Lt. Col. Ketchersid to expect a total of 1000 men by Christmas. Col. Ketchersid, commanding officer of the local detachment, Flight B, was informed of the personnel increase at a regular weekly meeting last night of the flight at the High School Room 1.

Three talks were made by officers of Flight B, and the training officer and liaison NCO from Norton Air Force Base, Riverside, informed the group of changes there.

Major Tom Kieley spoke on defense against Soviet Russia; Capt. John Mangini, handling of men in combat, and Lt. Constantino, current events and the Air Force.

From Norton, Capt. Edwards informed the group that the present headquarters for the 9348th training center will be transferred from Norton to Mira Loma Air Force Station. Sgt. Kelley, liaison NCO, who has been handling communications between Flight B and headquarters is going to Korea for a tour of duty. His replacement was not named.

Veronica Lake Hospitalized in Detroit Collapse

DETROIT (UP)—Actress Veronica Lake, famous for her peek-a-boo hair style, collapsed early today and was taken to receiving hospital, where physicians said she suffered a probably coronary occlusion.

Miss Lake, appearing here in the play "The Little Hut," collapsed in the lobby of her hotel. Police rushed to the scene and took her to the hospital, where Dr. Norman Goldston said the actress was suffering from an illness "of a serious nature."

Miss Lake, film star of "Sullivan's Travels," "Slattery's Hurricane" and other movies, gave her name as Mrs. J. A. McCarthy. She and McCarthy, a New York song publisher, were married recently at Traverse City, Michigan, where she was appearing in Summer stock. She gave her age as 33.

Miss Lake refused to talk to reporters and gave hospital attendants strict instructions not to permit any photographers to enter her room.

Dr. Goldston, a resident physician, said Miss Lake would remain in the hospital "for observation."

Farm Program Again Blasted at S. Dakota Rally

BROOKINGS, S. D. (UP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee was greeted today by a new blast at the Eisenhower administration's farm program from a Republican farmer-legislator.

State Senator Harold Golseth of Erwin, S. D., who is also vice president of the state Farmer's Union, told the committee in a prepared statement, "We are definitely opposed to any type of sliding scale price supports."

That was a reference to the administration's flexible farm program under which five major crops are supported this year between 82½ and 90 percent of the "fair income" parity level. The range next year will

Southland Business Still Expanding, Bank Reveals

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Southern California business activity in September expanded for the 11th consecutive month but continued to show a tendency to round off, the Security-First National Bank reported today.

The bank's research department said the gain was slight but that the local economy, which still is growing, was operating close to capacity. The general activity was 14.1 percent greater than a year ago.

Building and real estate continued to be active but with a leveling off tendency in real estate. Mortgage funds fell behind a record demand.

Population figures also showed steady increases, the bank reported.

Marriage of Marilyn and DiMaggio Officially Ended

NEW YORK (UP)—The marriage of Marilyn Monroe and Joe DiMaggio ended officially today, and the blonde star said she had no plans for remarriage to anyone.

Miss Monroe filed for divorce a year ago today in California, only nine months after she and DiMaggio were married. She said her husband had treated her with "coldness and indifference."

She and DiMaggio are both in Manhattan now, but going separate ways. Marilyn is busy studying serious acting at the Actor's Studio and DiMaggio spends considerable time handling his personal investments. They haven't been seen together since June 1, when DiMaggio gave a party for Marilyn's 29th birthday.

"I have no time for that now," Marilyn said, referring to any new romance. She lives now in an apartment on the swanky East Side of Manhattan and says she will only return to Hollywood "when and if" she makes any more pictures.

Let's stop pussy-footing about why the stock market seized on President Eisenhower's illness as an excuse to stage the sharpest price break in a quarter century, and why since late September there has been rising concern about business confidence and the duration of today's boom.

The reason was and is: Assuming Eisenhower will not run again, the chances of a Democratic victory are enhanced; the accepted theory is that businessmen will feel a lot less confident under a Democratic Administration than under a GOP Administration; if the Democrats seem in the lead, the argument then goes, businessmen will pull back, curtail their spending and a crucial prop under today's prosperity will be weakened.

WHETHER IT'S admitted or not, this is the scuttlebutt which has been going the rounds this past month and it's a virtual certainty it will continue to go the rounds in the months to come.

For it would be only common sense politics for GOP strategists to make the most of the appeal, "Keep the Republicans in office so business will continue zooming and your job and paycheck will be secure." It's useless to deny the theory exists. It does. The question, therefore, should not be about the existence of the theory but about its validity.

THE RESEARCH Institute of America, one of the largest and most respected business advisory organizations in the country, has made a stab at finding out. It has just polled key businessmen among its 50,000 member firms. I have obtained the results of the confidential survey and one of the questions bluntly put to the businessmen was:

Would the expectation of a Democratic victory in 1956 make any significant difference in your business outlook?

The answers were: no difference, 50 percent; brighter, 3 percent; dimmer, 45 percent.

NOW THAT SEEMS a frighteningly narrow margin, and I confess I shivered on reading that 45 percent figure. It's an awfully big minority.

But in another section, the questionnaire listed four possible trends in the economy and asked the businessmen what statement best described their general view of the economic situation today.

Of the total, 6 percent checked "We are in for a recession in the next 12 to 18 months"; 46 percent checked "There will be temporary uncertainty but no real trouble"; 27 percent checked "There will be temporary uncertainty, then a new rise," and 21 percent checked "Things will go along on a high level without any trouble."

That suggests an entirely different picture—with 94 percent obviously confident and only 6 percent expecting a recession in 1956-7.

THE ANSWERS TO other questions were even more revealing. An overwhelming majority reported they have made no change whatsoever in their spending plans and are continuing to operate on the assumption that the boom will go on. An equally impressive majority anticipate increases in sales prices and in demand for goods in their own field.

AS LEO CHERNE, executive director of the Institute, put it when I called to ask whether

A clear majority expect that the stock market averages will regain their highs in the next six to 12 months—and provocatively, of the minor 3 percent who report they sold stocks on the news of the President's illness, 28 percent also report they have either already bought back or plan to buy back in the next 30 days.

And so it went—each answer signalling a fundamental optimism which minimizes the meaning of the 45 percent who say Democratic victory would "dim" their view of the business outlook.

What the politicians say (and will say) the businessman thinks about business and what the businessman actually thinks are two distinctly different things. And since our jobs and paychecks are involved, for the difference revealed by this survey we may be grateful indeed.

my conclusions were correct. "Yes, you might think offhand that so large a percentage of doubters would foreshadow economic trouble. But the vote of basic confidence expressed in all their other answers certainly indicates the expectation is for very minor "dimming."

Carnation Corner

It's "breakfast time" in Carnation Corner today! And that means time for Carnation Half & Half—that luscious mixture of half Carnation Milk and half Carnation Cream. It's always fresh, always smooth—always just perfect in coffee and over cereals and fruits. Discover the goodness of Carnation Half & Half at breakfast tomorrow!

"Oh, what a beautiful morning!"

A good breakfast is like a good friend—it never lets you down. It prevents that "empty" feeling at eleven o'clock. It gives you far more energy than a few extra minutes of sleep (and a skimpy breakfast). It starts the day right, and you feel like whistling all morning!

SLICK FOR SLEEPYHEADS

Baked Apples with lots of good Carnation Half & Half Favorite Scrambled Eggs* Buttered Toast Jam Coffee Milk

Now that you've made friends with Carnation Half & Half, you'll find breakfast tastes twice as good to the entire family. Especially a breakfast that features this new idea called—

*FAVORITE SCRAMBLED EGGS

(makes 4 servings)
1/4 cup chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 cup sliced fresh tomatoes
1/4 cup melted butter
6 eggs
1/2 cup Carnation Half & Half
1/4 teaspoon salt

Brown tomatoes, green pepper and onion in 2 tablespoons melted butter in heavy skillet over medium heat (4-5 minutes). Remove vegetables; add remaining butter. Beat eggs, Half & Half and salt together. Cook beaten eggs in skillet over low heat; stir occasionally until firm. Mix scrambled eggs with vegetables lightly and serve at once.

THINK I'LL HAVE SOME BRAIN FOOD!

Many legends have grown up about apples, one of man's oldest foods. Scandinavian folklore, for example, says apples were eaten by the mythical gods...and that's why the gods were so wise. (I can't guarantee apples improve your I.Q.—but I do know how baked apples with Carnation Half & Half improve your breakfast!)

Carnation Half & Half is never "thin," and never too rich, either. It's just right, and just what a good breakfast needs. I always keep plenty in my refrigerator. You, too, I hope!

QUESTION — Has anything been effected through various meetings that the county board of supervisors have held in different cities in our county?

ANSWER — The board of supervisors has met at Coachella, Corona, Hemet, Elsinore, Idyllwild and Blythe, and with the exception of a small meeting at Coachella, there have been between 100 and 150 citizens attending these meetings.

There have been presentations by these citizens of problems in these various communities, which have resulted in a better and more complete understanding of the needs of the different communities.

This enables the supervisors to apply remedial changes more readily, when possible. It has also resulted in a face-to-face meeting, and a better understanding.

We hope to continue this program as a very valuable one.

Board of Supervisors

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Newsprint Prices

(New York Herald Tribune)

One major Canadian producer of newsprint, St. Lawrence Paper Corp., has just raised its price of newsprint by $5 a ton, and the action of other companies is being watched by the Justice Department for evidences of price collusion and cartel price-fixing practices. This is the tenth price increase in the cost of newsprint in a little over a decade, with the result of more than doubling this basic cost factor of a newspaper.

The newsprint producers, which in the past have followed in the steps of any one company which upped the price, argue that they cannot absorb increasing costs of production and expansion. But the companies are known to be unprecedentedly prosperous. The production costs of newspapers, moreover, have risen steeply and have left no way of increasing revenues without risking a curtailment of their service to the public.

A free press exists only so long as the newspaper industry can function profitably. The number of newspapers published is an important indication of the press' freedom, and this number can be drastically affected by unnecessary and arbitrary price increases by the newsprint producers. This aspect of freedom, as well as a basic factor in American-Canadian relations, stands to suffer if the pattern set by St. Lawrence Paper Corp. becomes general.

EDITOR'S CORNER

By Oliver B. Jaynes

NEW POPULATION ESTIMATES — Just how many people are living in Palm Springs at any given time has been the subject of much speculation. The same holds true for the entire Coachella Valley which has many unincorporated communities. There has been considerable guessing on the subject because everyone knows that the figures of the last (1953) Special Census are way low.

Three factors enter into the population question: (1) It is known that the population is increasing steadily. (2) Thousands of people have homes here and stay in them for various lengths of time, but not long enough in any year to establish legal residence. (3) The difficulty of ascertaining the number of people residing in the unincorporated area.

The number of people who visit Palm Springs and the surrounding area every year is just as speculative. There are several ways of estimating the number of annual visitors which arrive at different figures.

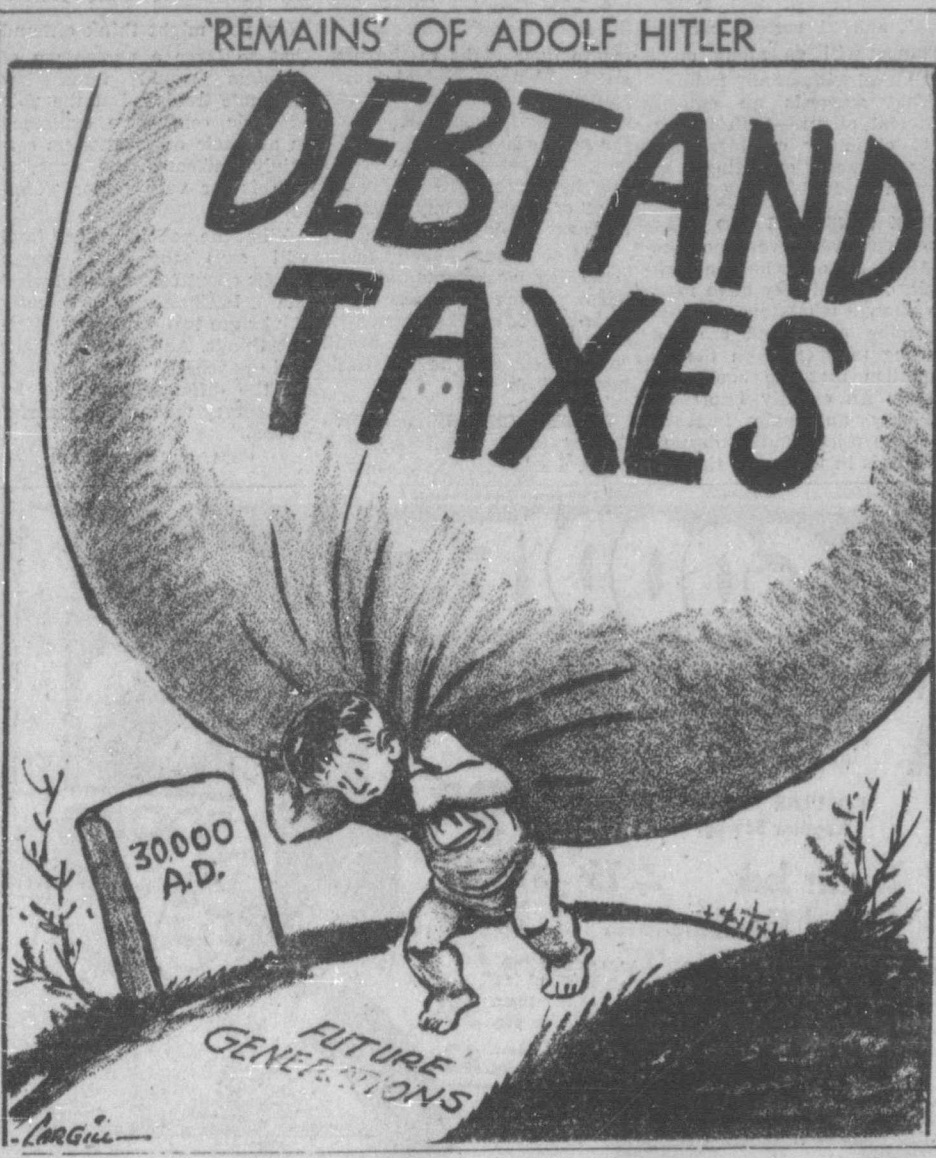

A careful study has recently been conducted for a firm which is considering the establishment of a business which it believes will draw people from the entire Coachella Valley. While the name of the firm will not be disclosed at this time, I was able to get their population estimates which were arrived at by the application of established formulas. They estimate the present population of Palm Springs to be 17,652. This number includes 4,858 who are not legal residents but spend about five months of the year here. The 1953 Special Census population was 10,381, and at that time enumerators found many more who were living here at the time but maintained their legal residence elsewhere, so could not be counted.

The recent survey indicated that 76,500 people resided in the Coachella Valley trading territory — a figure that will surprise many people. This took in the area extending to (but not including) Banning on the west and Mecca on the east.

The estimated number of people who visit this resort area each year is 685,000. This figure was arrived at by taking spot traffic counts, number of hotel rooms and average percentage of occupancy for different periods of the year. It includes those who do not stay overnight. The average length of stay of the vacationist group is estimated at one week.

The population of the area is growing so rapidly that it would be hard to keep any figures up to date. The population of Palm Springs alone is increasing at the rate of 1,900 a year, according to estimates.

What will be the population of Palm Springs and the Coachella Valley in 1960?? It's your guess now!

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By FRED WEIGEL
Column's really late today. That's beginning to say. "Even if you have to say. Get it out right away."

So, I'm at the typewriter and on my way to writing another column about the Desert Empire, and things in general.

Got a kick out of hearing from John Noyes this week, when he told me that monkeys, tapirs and honey bears were running around the air strip at Desert Air Hotel. Seems that a plane called the Jungle Queen landed over there filled with the little animals, and in the act of refueling, it crowded around looking at the animals and opened some of the cages. Another incoming plane had a hard time landing because of the loose animals.

Always did have a small squawk with the telephone company on a small matter of the telephone service within the Desert Empire, and after just completing a call to Palm Desert, thought I'd mention it. A station to station call from Palm Springs to Palm Desert costs 35 cents (person-to-person 55 cents) and actually you could almost talk to them from your back porch.

CARLETTE, THE SUN correspondent in Morongo Valley, wrote a note to me saying that this column, every day, is very widely read in the high desert. Of course the real hero to our readers is Phat, but Don Klotz-buecher and I have to steal a little glory from the nice things that are said about This Side of The Sun. Don and I pour out our thoughts one day each week and it's easy to understand how Phat could have such a great time writing it. Of course, he's done it for many years now.

People of the Desert Empire are looking forward to some wonderful events within the next week or so, including four big golfing events — the Desert Senior Golf Tourney at O'Donnell, Tamarisk and Thunderbird; Thunderbird's pro-amateur play next Friday, Saturday and Sunday; and the Ryder Golf Matches November 5 and 6, and the Southern California Open at Tamarisk.

Another big event is Carnival Day next Saturday at Palm Desert's Shadow Mountain Club. News of the Mt. San Jacinto Tramway is really good this week, with the release of information that the project is so close to getting started. As soon as the revenue bonds can be sold, I imagine that you readers will see the large head, lines that construction has started. It is going to be a wonderful thing for the entire state and benefit all the communities of the Desert Empire.

PALM FOR SERVICE, this week, goes to Orville Zappe of Cathedral City, who was made chairman of the Businessmen's Association in the Cathedral City area. The organization is taking in all the businessmen from Araby Point to Rancho Mirage, and will drive for important betterments within the area. Zappe is manager of the Citizen's Bank in Cathedral City, and also heads the Highway 111 Association. He really does a big job.

See you next Thursday!

Congressional Report

By Representative John Phillips

The first session of the 84th Congress is moving into the shadows and perhaps it is possible now to make a calmer appraisal. I used to say, as you will recall, that a session, here or in Sacramento, was "hard," or that one was harder than another. That word is no longer descriptive. I think sessions today strike a balance between accomplishment and frustration and dead center, with increasing delicacy.

One liberal member of the Congress has been making speeches this Summer on the theme that the safety and success of the United States lie in the fact that we are a "middle-of-the-road-nation." I suspect that one object in the speech is to divert attention from the fact that his own record is anything but middle of the road, but the distinguished member may have something, at that, for our geographical size; our original desire for personal liberty (now sadly diluted by the temptations of twenty years) and the strength which stems from our inherent resources, including ingenuity and hard work, have developed a middle of the road attitude we could now call characteristic.

OUR DANGER LIES in slow encroachments on personal liberty and independence. It is an insidious process. The farmer who a few years back would have taken his pitchfork to the man who suggested that the government ought to regulate and control him, is now in Washington, asking for more aid, even though he knows that regulations and controls go with all such help.

Thus, with the resulting and increasing bureaucracy, the Congressman in Washington has ceased to be primarily a "legislator," and has become more of an agent for his people, standing between them and the mushrooming departments, agencies and bureaus. It can not be otherwise. You, who read this weekly letter, can not possibly know how to deal with this intangible and formidable spider web called "Government," so your Representative has to help you, or direct you.

Thus the load increases, which is something that can be met, but the distraction from the legislative process can not be balanced by adding secretaries, and the seeds are planted for groups which eventually, if you don't agree with them, you call "pressure groups," or if you do agree, you call your legislative contacts in Washington. Group government moves rapidly toward strongly centralized government.

THE CATCHY PHRASE, "from the cradle to the grave," is no longer a fantasy. It is a reality. Government sticks its nose into your private affairs from birth to death. We have not yet reached the refinements one sees in France, where marriages and deaths are both with all such help.

Clark Gable tells of meeting one of his ex-leading ladies and being unable to remember her name. said, "Hello, darling, when did you get into town?" She snapped: "Twenty-five years ago!"

Mike Connolly Reports on Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD — Paramount, putting over the poor showings made by "Desperate Hours" in its three opening situations, is changing the ad campaign... David Selznick asked Shirley Temple to come to work... Jose Ferrer and Steve Allen are slugging it out for U-F's "The Great Man," supposedly about Arthur Godfrey... MGM envisions Bing Crosby as co-starring out Culver way with Grace Kelly and Frank Sinatra in "High Society," formerly "The Philadelphia Story"... Joan Crawford, Chicago-bound, has a goodbye gala Friday... Sign of the times: shortage of yachts... Nothing but nip-ups at Warner's over Gail Russell's performance in "Seven Men from Now"... Greg Peck checked in for "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit" in brown tweeds... Nat Benchley's best line in his new book about his dad: "He was as wide awake as a third baseman"... Our favorite Benchley story is about the time Bob's doctor examined him and said, "You've got to quit drinking, Bob—it's slow death." To which Bob replied, "I'm in no hurry"... Tita Purdon has two new pets that she takes strolling on one leash: a spider monkey and a deodorized skunk... Add Utterly Useless Information: The back entrance of 20th-Fox is on Route 66, where, as they say, you get your kicks... Harris & Kubrick signed Coleen Gray, Sterling Hayden, Vince Edwards, Marie Windsor and Elisha Cook Jr. for cops-&-robbers item, "Clean Break." UA release rolls at Kling November 1... Ben Lessy and Patti Moore join Gypsy Rose Lee in the McHugh-Adamson-Lindsay-Crouse musical, "Strip for Action." Opens in New Haven New Year's Eve... When you query Goodman Ace on the health of his wife he replies, "Oh, Jane's all right—if you like Jane"... Dennis Morgan's wife is a freshman at Occidental College where their son Stanley is a freshman... Disillusioned press agent about a new client: "That ham believes his publicity BEFORE he gets it!"

Sam Jaffe jumped to Majorca and signed to represent Errol Flynn for pictures and TV. Sam says Flynn looks great and is all clear with Uncle Sam... Failing Audrey Hepburn, Warner will settle for Eva Marie Saint for "Marjorie Morningstar"... "The Old Vic" a chapter in Jim and Henry Bacus' book, upcoming from Holt, is about Vic Mature... Primo Carnera is suing Budd Schulberg and the publisher of "The Harder They Fall," claiming invasion of privacy... Oddity: Carnera signed a waiver for the movie version of "Fall," for which he received $10,000 from RKO... After which Jerry Wald brought the property to Columbia, where it'll be filmed with Mike Lane in Carnera's corner... But the payoff is that Col has switched the Carnera character from an Italian

Earl Wilson It Happened Last Night

NEW YORK—Howdy, Customers! Quiet your tattered nerves with these thoughts from "Outspan," the popular Johannesburg, South Africa, magazine: "The remarkable thing about college reunions is that your classmates have got so stout and bald they hardly recognize you."

Also: "Quiet people aren't the only ones who don't say much."

IT'S DISTRESSING—us reporters can't cook up a feud between Jackie Gleason and Perry Como, the Saturday night TV rivals.

"Perry's a fine man; we play cards together," says Jackie. And Como regrets being on opposite him "cause he can't watch the Gleason show."

Gleason denies reports he might switch from filmed to "live" shows. "Our scripts are better than last year's and we're perfectly satisfied," Jackie told us. "Nobody's beaten us yet."

THE WAY TO A woman's heart is through her feet. Tommy Dorsey ordered a beautiful and expensive pair of shoes for his wife, Janie New—and next day their divorce talk was off. (Husbands, make a note of this.)

Clark Gable tells of meeting one of his ex-leading ladies and being unable to remember her name. said, "Hello, darling, when did you get into town?" She snapped: "Twenty-five years ago!"

BOY, DID I FEEL chic at the Mary Martin-Noel Coward TV show—sitting there at CBS with Lunt & Fontanne, Clifton Webb, Cyril Ritchard, William Faulkner, Mainbocher, Lisa Kirk, Harold Arlen, and Vera Zorina—I've seldom seen such a distinguished TV audience.

Seeing these two brilliant stars performing a few feet from us was an unforgettable delight.

When they were three or four minutes short, Mary and Noel stood there laughing sort of guiltily, Mary making "stretch" signals, Noel puffing a cigarette.

"We cut one number," Coward told me, "because at that time of night we'd have no breath left and we'd have been gasping like a couple of locomotives. Clifton Webb said: 'I think they were short because they were so electric—so on their toes—that it all went faster than in rehearsal!'"

In many a household people forgot it was George Gobel Night.

THE FRIARS GAVE a party for Joe E. Lewis at which I wanted a sandwich, as food wasn't being served yet. I hesitated. A man next to me said, "I'll get you one. I doubt if they'll argue with me." And he brought me back one without a word, did Rocky Marciano.

Greta Garbo has shed her hat. In El Morocco's Champagne Room, with Aristotle Onassis and George Schlee, GG was bareheaded—first time anybody could remember her not being in one of those coolie caps. The result: she looked positively girlish.

We're glad President Eisenhower took a step. It had seemed that more people were worrying whether he'd run again, than whether he'd walk again.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... The Duchess of Windsor'll spend three weeks here dictaphoning her story with the help of her maid, a dog, and the Duke's equestrian secretary, Victor Waddelove... Joe E. Lewis underwent a throat operation, and had to cancel cafe dates. The doc also banned smoking, but o.k'd booze... Roy Cohn, David Schine and a couple of lovelies were at the Ambassador Night Box.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE LATE JOE PALMER told about a newly elected Senator from Tennessee who was making his way through Kentucky at a time when horseback was the only mode of travel in those parts. He tarried for the night at a stately plantation near Harrodsburg where he was offered some delicious homemade bourbon, served neat in a water glass.

The Tennesseean inquired tactfully if his host was acquainted with a delicious concoction called a julep, and learning with surprise that it was unknown in that part of Kentucky, dispatched flunkys forthwith to pick some mint from the banks of a neighboring stream. He thereupon made some of the darndest juleps in history.

This was in April. The senator came back that way again in October, but the master of the house failed to put in an appearance.

"No, suh, he ain't here no mo'," reported the head servant mournfully. "He took to bed right 'after yo' taught him to put grass in his bourbon, and jus' plain julepped hisself to glory!"

Homer Croy, in "Our Will Rogers" tells how Betty Blake, later Mrs. Rogers, introduced the town of Rogers, Arkansas, to con-somme served in coffee cups. Her neighbors were stumped. They sat staring at their cups. Then Betty made an important decision.

She put some cream and sugar in her consomme and stirred it. Her guests followed suit. Then the cook came in from the kitchen and asked, "Well, folks, how's the soup?"

There was a moment of agonized silence, then everybody burst into laughter.

Body Building Class Started at Youth Center

More than 30 boys signed up for the body-building class held each Monday night from 7 to 9 at the Youth Center on Belardo Road. The class is directed by Bob Manchell.

Carl Plate, co-director of the Youth Center, said the body development class was started to promote a desire for healthful recreation, rather than to build masses of muscles.

Plate added that a secondary program in the body building protect has been added. Boxing coached by Bud Southerland, is the other facet. The training included pointers by Southerland as the boys punched the light and heavy bag and boxed for short periods.

Manchell and Southerland said that about 50 boys attended the meeting, and they expect most of the remainder to sign up for the physical education classes.

RECREATION IS VITAL TO ATOM TEST OFFICIAL

By PHIL GALLISHAW

Recreation is as important as food to Dr. John C. Clark. He must have it to stay alive.

Dr. Clark is the test director for the Atomic Energy Commission, responsible for the safety of every human being connected with the experimental nuclear explosions in Nevada, New Mexico and the South Pacific.

Dr. Clark left his home in Los Alamos, near Santa Fe, N. M., for a vacation-motor trip about a week ago. He is making a swing through Southern California and up to Las Vegas where he will direct the recently-announced safety test series of atomic shots.

HE STOPPED in San Jacinto to see a former Stanford classmate, and the two men drove together to Palm Springs to visit a third Stanford alumnus, consulting engineer Bill Mason and his wife, Reba, at their home on Cottonwood Road.

Reba Mason is a soloist with the Clive Chorus. Clark, a lover of music who likes to talk records almost as much as he likes to listen to them, laced his conversation throughout the evening with brief references to quartets and trios, other chamber music, and the myriad facets of the musical world.

His conversation, with the group of six gathered for before-dinner cocktails, touched on subjects as varied as a montage recording of the world at cocktail hour.

WHEN HE SPOKE of his World War II trip to Europe to collect all data on the progress of atomic development in foreign countries, he reminisced about the irony of his being in Paris when the first A-bomb, which he had been instrumental in developing, was dropped on Hiroshima.

Though he spoke of it as any intelligent man speaks of a job so encompassing infinite responsibility, danger and excitement which he has been a part of for more than a decade, Dr. Clark became a little more intense. When the conversation turned to the activities of the little community of Los Alamos, he relaxed perceptibly, and as the origin of impressionistic dancing became a topic, he seemed to loosen more.

BUT THE THOUGHT that he was one of the men who had the future of civilization in his controlling hands—he would be the last person to think of his life in such dramatic terms—returned to him periodically. The immediate future was a real image before him. He could not put it out of his mind merely by talking about something else. Dr. Clark said there will be no more war. The power of nuclear weapons is too great to unleash. As he spoke he thought of another mushroom cloud, of another gamble, of the prayers that the next test shot will not be the one to start a world-wide chain reaction of annihilation. The thoughts were subconscious and had been gone over so many times that they almost didn't occur. But they were there, and they showed in his quiet eyes.

ONLY WHEN HE TALKED of things that happened in college, of the carefree times of days full of study and nights of hard work did the shadows leave his eyes. For his life has become a series of images of horror with the explosion of each atomic and hydrogen bomb. Each cloud leaves an indelible mark on his highly trained mind, and the mind of any man can absorb just so much horror before saturation. Soon another bomb will vaporize everything within a mile—if it explodes according to schedule.

IF IT MISFIRES, Dr. Clark will have to climb to the bomb and disarm it, as he did in 1952. That experience will live with him forever. It's little wonder that Dr. Clark likes to—must—divorce himself completely from the AEC at every opportunity. He must relax to maintain an equilibrium.

That's why he asked everyone to call him Jack, rather than Dr. Clark, because Dr. Clark is the man who pulls the trigger, and Jack is the man who talks music and painting and long-ago college days and good places to eat and relax.

School Yearbook Staff Spends Day at Redlands

The production staff of the Palm Springs yearbook spent yesterday at the University of Redlands' Seventh Annual Workshop learning the answers to technical and mechanical problems they had confronted during the past year.

Ten staffers from the Village met with more than 700 journalism students from schools in California and Arizona in Redlands' Memorial Chapel. They were greeted by Dr. George Armacost, president of the University.

The local yearbook group consisted of Gretchen Gerhart, editor; assistant editors Janice Sacoofsky and David Fisher; Phyllis Peeler, copy editor; Carol Saindon, circulation manager; Jerry Greenfield, boys' activities editor; Buzzy Rosin, girls' activities editor; Clark Gardner, advertising manager; Kay Sacoofsky, business manager, and photographer John Simon.

The topics discussed by the groups after they were split up according to jobs and number were: "Yearbooks in Public Relations," "Copy you want to read," and "How to capture that moment with your camera."

The editors of Chia, the Palm Spring High School annual, stayed all day and absorbed theoretical working procedure explained in an interesting and informing manner.

Aid in Locating Dog Asked by Elderly Woman

Mrs. Laura E. Johnson of Ivanhoe, today appealed to the hearts of every Villager.

Elderly, and nearly blind, she lost her guide dog while in the Village Sunday. She was en route to Coachella to visit relatives, when the car in which she was riding made a short stop in the downtown area. The dog jumped out of the car and disappeared.

The dog is described as part shepherd and part Russian; colored black, brown and tan. It answers to the name of "Ted."

Anyone who knows where the dog can be located is asked to contact Mrs. Lena Johnson at the Adobe Courts in Coachella.

Mrs. Inez Plate, co-director of the Youth Center and organizer of the class, Mrs. Florence Webb, of the Public Library, and Mrs. Hazel T. Beebe of the Red Cross have been the speakers at the past three hour-long meetings which start at 7 p.m.

Mrs. Marjorie Caylor, Riverside County nurse, last night spoke to the girls about child care and ran a short movie on home emergencies.

About 50 more girls have expressed interest in the class and the club, Mrs. Plate said, and she expects another class of 20 to start following the completion of the present one.

Russia Has Second Biggest Navy in World Says Admiral

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Adm. Jerauld Wright, supreme allied commander of NATO's Atlantic fleet, said today Russia has built the second biggest navy in the world since 1945 in a plan to isolate Europe from North America.

Wright, also commander-in-chief of the U. S. Atlantic fleet, said the Soviet fleet was the world's second largest in number of ships. The Reds have more than 400 submarines, double the number of all of the subs of the other navies in the world, he said.

"Since the war, the Soviets have been constructing a modern navy at the maximum rate which their industrial capacity can stand; a navy which appears to be designed for the purpose of isolating Europe from North America and for the resultant drastic reduction which this would produce in the defensive capabilities of each," Wright said.

The naval leader spoke at a Navy Day luncheon of the Los Angeles Council of the Navy League.

Farm Bureau Says Sales Tax Discriminatory

"The application of a county-wide sales and use tax would be discriminatory to persons engaged in agriculture," it was charged by the President Fred L. Eldridge of the Riverside County Farm Bureau in a letter to the County Board of Supervisors this week.

At its annual meeting in Hemet earlier this month, the County Farm Bureau adopted a resolution opposing a sales and use tax as provided for in state legislation adopted at the last session.

In the words of Farm Bureau research director, Von T. Ellis, worth the law "exempts from the county tax the receipts from the sale of goods which have been subject to a similar tax of another county or city. The objection to this is that the exemption of such sales subjected to a city sales tax would be to relieve them of their share of the burden for county support."

Empire Building Totals $64,436

Building permits in the Desert Empire unincorporated area last week totaled $64,436, according to records of the county building department.

Largest permit in value was to James J. Hines, Cathedral City, dwelling and carport, $18,048.

Other permits issued were: Jim Andrews, Cathedral City, addition, $3,000; Bayco Co., Rancho Mirage, two dwellings and garages, $9,424 each; General Investment Co., Rancho Mirage, two dwellings and garages, $9,620 each; Helen V. Allen, Rancho Mirage, alteration, $1,000; W. R. Smith, Cathedral City, dwelling $4,300.

She Wants Refund

MARION, Ill. (UP)—Sheriff Carl Miller is also Williamson County's ex-officio tax collector and received numerous complaints after the annual tax bills were mailed out. One woman called and told Miller that after she paid the county tax on her dog, the dog died and she wanted a refund.

AVCC Auxiliary announces that the benefit luncheon held in Los Angeles was a huge success. The luncheon was held at the home of Mrs. Elda Kahn and Mrs. Eva Galvin for the benefit of the fund raising campaign being conducted by the AVCC Auxiliary in Desert Hot Springs.

Attending from the Auxiliary in DHS were Mrs. Lola Hemingway, president of the group, and Meses. Sally Sweet, Helen Young, Ada Sigmund, Thelma Volkman and Edna Gross.

Over 100 people were served luncheon and cards followed. Many friends of the hostesses were unable to attend and sent donations. All together, over $500 was turned over to the Auxiliary. The money raised was spent for furnishings of the reception room in the temporary Out-Patient Clinic from Cliff's Furniture Shop in DHS. Mrs. Kahn and Mrs. Galvin have been coming to DHS for many years and are property owners here. When they were approached by Mrs. Edna Gross for a donation to the AVCC Auxiliary fund, the benefit luncheon was their answer and they donated their home and the food for the fine luncheon served.

First fall meeting of the Palm Desert Women's Club was held Thursday at Shadow Mountain Club. It was, as usual, luncheon followed by a business meeting and program.

Ronald Button, Republican National Committeeman of California, gave a talk on the structural building of the Republican National convention which will be held in San Francisco in 1956. This is one time that the convention was seeking a meeting place rather than the place seeking the convention. All Californians will play the part of hosts to this vast gathering — some fifty thousand.

Mrs. Edna O'Reilly, in charge of Red Cross activities in the Coachella Valley was a guest of the Palm Desert Woman's Club and gave an outline of the work to be done and asked for volunteer helpers.

A correction should be made in Palm Desert news of last week. Fred and Velma Blades were in Michigan all Summer — not Ted and Thelma.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Elligood Lola Reddic, of the Temple of Christian Philosophy in Long Beach.

Ed and Leah Zower have returned to their home on West Second Street. He is on vacation from his work in San Diego. Leah is improving from the stroke suffered during the Summer, and she will return to the hospital in San Diego for further treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Eglin of East Sixth Street, have returned to the desert after three months spent in various parts of Canada. Eglin reports a wonderful trip, nice weather, good fishing and swimming.

Mrs. Era Adams of West Fourth Street, is home after being away most of the Summer. She is recuperating from recent illness, therefore is not too active socially but will welcome seeing friends who wish to call. She reports it is nice to be retired on the desert.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Barnhisel on Desert View have sold their home to Mrs. Bess Bacon of Santa Rosa, who will be a substitute elementary school teacher in the Palm Springs school district. The Barnhisels are moving to the Sky Ridge trailer park in Palm Springs.

Rev. and Mrs. Yngnar Johansen of the Community Methodist church were honored Friday evening when the ladies of the church served a pot luck dinner. After the dinner, the evening was spent in community singing with Rev. Johansen at the piano and Ruth Purvis at the organ.

Top Swimmers Enter Salton Race Sunday

—SALTON SEA

A swim race across Salton Sea's 10 1/2 mile course will take place Sunday, starting at 9 a.m. weather permitting. This is an open swim and anyone may enter, according to Helen Burns of the Salton Sea Beach resort.

She will take skiing lessons from Wally Albright of Desert Shores and hopes to enter the Ski Show at Salton Sea Beach Sunday, November 6 given by the Southern California Water Ski Club. ## High School Highlights

Editor's Note: The Palm Springs High school column this week is written by Sue Joloff and Bonnie Woodmansee. Articles were submitted by the Journalism class.

This is the latest news from P. S. H. S. which is published weekly.

Class meetings were held on Tuesday, and there were many interesting discussions. The Freshmen thought of an idea for the Pep Rally skit, and discussed ways of making money for their class—some ideas were cake sales and lemonade sales.

Sophomores discussed their class rings and when they would be available, and the Soc Hops which they put on every year as an annual affair. The Juniors chose volunteers to work in the Junior Concession stand at the football game, and there was much controversy about the color of their class sweaters—it was decided that they would take a ballot sometime this week. The colors will either be red and white or green and light green.

The Seniors discussed their class pictures, Senior ditch day, Senior formal and Senior class play which will be sometime in early December.

TODAY THE GIRLS League and G. A. A. held their annual Tea and Fashion show for the mothers. It was held in the patio of the cafeteria at 3:45, in conjunction with American Education Week. The clothes were modeled by Palm Springs High school girls and the shops that presented the clothes were: Mary Helen Teen's, The Beachcomber Shops, and Alpha's. The mistress of ceremonies was Beth Mills and the co-chairmen were Melinda Hough and Joan Weber.

The Junior Coordinating Council is now meeting the first and third Tuesday of every month. This council consists of a representative from each of the youth groups in Palm Springs which are working with the Adult Youth Coordinating Council. Those present were Kent Werges, David Self, Eugene Therleau, Buzzy Rosin, Gretchen Gerhart, David Fisher, Melinda Hough, Henry Greeley and Carl Plate. The plans of the group were established as dealing with problems of teenagers in coordination of youth activities.

THE INDIAN club held its third meeting of the year on October 24. The purpose of the meeting was to learn new cheers and they discussed the next half time stunt which

Music

NEW YORK (AP)—With all the hullabaloo about next year being the 200th anniversary of the birth of Mozart, not too much has been said in the musical world about next December 8 being the 90th birthday of the living Jan Sibelius.

However, the Philadelphia Orchestra began honoring the great Finn on October 14 and 15, with the first of a series of Sibelius concerts. The second one will be played December 9-10, thus sandwiching the birthday. The third is planned for March 16 and 17.

The New York Philharmonic-Symphony opened its 114th season October 20, with an international flourish, since the orchestra had just returned from a tour of nine countries and 15 cities in Europe. The boxes in Carnegie Hall were draped with flags of the world's nations, and in the boxes were the ambassadors of those nations, special guests of the orchestra.

New York's City Center Opera—which is known outside the city as the New York City Opera Company—has made another big hit with a resurrected opera, this one, Tchaikovsky's "The Golden Slippers."

It was staged during the second week of the company's Fall season, along with a new and sparkling production of Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." The enthusiasm of the audience seemed unlimited.

Musicalologists won't recognize the opera by the name, "The Golden Slippers." He called it "Vakula the Smith." It has also been staged as "Cheruvichki" and "Les Caprices D'Oxane." But it hadn't been staged at all in New York for 35 years.

The first regional auditions for the Metropolitan Opera were held in Seattle October 15. John Guttman, assistant manager, flew there to judge the candidates. More regional auditions will be held in Tulsa, Oklahoma, January 29, Minneapolis February 13, and Denver, February 29.

Present members of the Metropolitan Opera who came to the management's attention through the now famous "Auditions of the Air," include Margaret Harshaw, Patricia Munsell, Eleanor Steber, Robert Merrill, and Leonard Warren.

The eighth annual Award Concert of the American Theatre Wing was given by Margaret Tobias, a mezzo-soprano of winsome proportions and handsome voice, in Town Hall, New York, October 2.

She was the eighth young artist to be selected by a jury of musicians for the award—which is a recital in New York sponsored by the American Theatre Wing.

The world-famous resident choir at the Academy of Saint Cecilia in Rome made its American debut in Carnegie Hall October 6, and every one of its social mind was delighted.

Londoners are Enjoying Visit in Palm Springs

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Butler of Portsmouth, Hampshire, England, are enjoying their first visit to Palm Springs. "We are both enthralled and amazed at the beauty, vastness and wonderful hospitality that we have received and will prove good ambassadors for the U.S.A.," they said this week.

Mr. Butler is director of merchandising firm H. E. Butler (Southsea) Ltd. specialists in oil field equipment.

The Butlers arrived in New York on September 23 and traveled by way of Chicago to Portland, Oregon then on to San Francisco and Los Angeles before coming to Palm Springs.

From here they will go to Las Vegas and return to London late in November.

They have been staying at the Pepper Tree Inn.

SOURCE OF SAUCE

SOUTH CARVER, Mass. (AP)—Massachusetts, which raises more cranberries than any other state, harvested a 1955 crop estimated at more than 1,000,000 barrels.

Floridans Think Village is Top

President of Golden Sales of Florida, Robert Stivers and associate, Jack Smith are visiting the Village for the first time. They have been here several weeks and are undecided as to their time of return to Florida. In discussing his visit here Mr. Stivers said he has never seen anything like it and the clothes men wear here has him in a spin. In the past his vacations have been spent in Europe, Haiti and the eastern sea coast of the United States. As Mr. Stivers put it, "this tops everything." While here they are guests at the Sandcomber hotel.

Visitors from Mexico City, Anita Camarena, associated with the Mexican Consulate in Mexico and her sister, Lupe, with the Bank of Mexico, were guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Mitchell recently. Another guest at the time was Robert Cutler, district attorney of Santa Barbara and cousin of Mr. Mitchell. The Mexican girls were greatly impressed with Palm Springs and enjoyed every minute of their stay here.

Smiths Back in Village Home

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Smith have returned to their Village home on Paseo de Anza after spending the summer in the northern part of the state. They divided their time between Oakland, their former home, and Ben Lomond in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

The Smiths were much entertained by their friends, including a dinner given for them at "Deer Park Lodge" by Mr. and Mrs. John Martin (Salinas Valley lettuce king).

A recent visitor at the Arthur Brudvik home was Jacob Knutsen of Minnesota. Mr. Knutsen, step-father of Mr. Brudvik, has just returned to the United States from Norway where he spent a year.

This past week Mrs. Monte Turner and daughter, Debbie, of San Diego, were houseguests of the Brudviks. Mr. Turner joined them for the week-end. Coming here especially for Western Week, they joined in all the activities the week offered.

Mexican Folklore Authority in Musical Revue

Eligio Herrera, an authority on Mexican folklore, performs a ceremonial dance that was used in Oaxaca to welcome the hero Montezuma, in the musical revue "Noches Mexicanas" at the Pudia Hills Theatre near Claremont.

In "La Danza de la Pluma" he wears a colorful costume with an enormous, brilliant headdress which has been traditional in this dance for centuries. It tells the legendary story of the Quetzal bird which took on bright colors when it flew into the rainbow, but died when it was imprisoned for its beauty.

Other songs and dances which are favorites of the regions of Yucatan, Chihuahua and Veracruz are performed by the Mexican Players in costumes which are typical of the areas.

"Merienda," an after theatre party, follows each performance of "Noches Mexicanas" Wednesday through Saturday evenings, and after Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Whitmans are Returning Here

Colonel and Mrs. H. B. Whitman are returning to Palm Springs after spending 14 months in Fort Pierce, Florida. Colonel Whitman, now retired for physical disability, was formerly with the United States Army Criminal Investigation Division and Mrs. Whitman will be remembered for her association with the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Palm Springs.

Upon their arrival in Palm Springs they will stay temporarily at the Casa del Camino, North Palm Canyon Drive, until permanent facilities are located.

Mrs. Edna Rauber who has been visiting her daughter in Connecticut since July, arrived home on Monday and is staying with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Rauber.

"GHOST WALKING DOG"
Several people who saw this for a family newspaper such as this. (Some people claim that all Doodles are too frightening for any type of newspaper, but these people are Trouble Makers and stick-in-the-muds who still have N.R.A. stickers on their windows and wear a belt with their suspenders.) It happens this ghost is on his way to a Halloween Party with his dog (a Scaredale) where he will dress up in a tuxedo and try to scare the other Ghosts by pretending he's a Person. It won't work because, although Ghosts still believe in them, they aren't scared of people any more. They've figured out there must be some scientific explanation for them.

It was claimed it was too frightening

Aragon 3-1 Over Woody Winslow

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Art Aragon, making his first fight since taking a bad beating from Joe Meehl in July, is a 3 to 1 favorite to beat middleweight Woody Winslow tonight in Olympic Auditorium's 10-round main event.

The fight will not be televised. Aragon and Winslow were set to fight last Thursday, but Art suffered a cut mouth in a gym workout and the bout was re-scheduled.

Ferrier First to Arrive for Southland Open at Tamarisk

Jim Ferrier, golf pro at Lakeside Country Club in Los Angeles, was one of the first of 85 big names in the golf world to arrive at Tamarisk Country Club for the three-day Southern California Open Championship. Ferrier arrived Tuesday morning, and spent most of the afternoon putting on the bentgrass practice green.

Ferrier, who has been pro at Lakeside for about a year and a half, will play 18 holes today and Friday in preliminary competition at Tamarisk and then enter the Thunderbird Pro-Amateur Saturday and Sunday.

If the Australian's Open score for the two 18-hole tries is among the low 40, out of the 85 entries, he will play 36 holes Monday when the championship playoff for the Open is held.

A PRACTICE SCORE of 70 was racked up by Ferrier Tuesday morning at Thunderbird, when he shot 18 holes prepping for the Pro-Am there.

He started on the Professional Golfers Association circuit in early 1940, earned a place at the top of the heap, and a comfortable living. Jim and Mrs. Ferrier are glad to be settled in Los Angeles. The driving, hotels, and pressure were exciting and fun, but taxing.

Ferrier said he thought the outcome of the Ryder Cup match, November 5 and 6 at Thunderbird, would be a lopsided United States victory. He said the British team has not played on Bermuda grass greens, and the U.S. team plays

Brubaker Hurt, Out of Game

Lloyd Brubaker, first string center on the Palm Springs High School football team, was tackled yesterday during practice drills and tore the muscle from his left shoulder and collarbone. He will be in a cast for six weeks or more.

Brubaker, a senior, was being converted to play in the Indian backfield. No successor to his center position has been named.

Would Make Palm Springs Polo Center

New Association, Incorporated for International Fame

Palm Springs Polo Association, newly organized and now in the process of incorporating as a non-profit organization, has only one aim.

And that is to establish Palm Springs as an international polo center.

All officers and directors are in agreement on this point. They are: Frank Bogert, president; Lloyd Phillips, vice president; Ted Pierce, secretary-treasurer and tournament and match director; Bill Moore, national director, and Lyle Nixon.

PLANS HAVE already started toward construction of two outdoor polo fields, with a stick and ball strip between them.

Three teams are now located in this area, with top players on each. The Red Diamonds, representing Palm Springs, is composed of Bogert, Larry Funkhauser, who is rated as one of the top young players on the west coast, and Allan Scherer, who coached the highly rated Stanford polo team for five years.

Members of the Shadow Mountain Club team are Ted Pierce, Lyle Nixon and Lloyd Phillips, and of the Green Acres squad, Bill Moore, Bill Mayberry of Phoenix and Willie Tevis, who is president of the San Francisco Polo Association, and who is observing his 51st year of polo playing.

THE ASSOCIATION now has 18 playing members, including several in Long Beach and Phoenix.

Top teams are scheduled to appear here this year, including Phoenix, Stanford, Colorado A.M., Honolulu, and Maui, Brazil and Mexico.

"As soon as the outdoor fields are constructed, we will invite every recognized polo club in the world to participate in polo action in Palm Springs," Pierce said.

"We promise the people here that we will do everything in our power to give the public the kind of polo enjoyed the world over, when top teams are competing."

A three-team round-robin is scheduled for this weekend.

Accident Causes Damage to Cars

Cars driven by Thomas Monroe Alexander, 25, 648 Sage Street, and Harold Potter Fields, 31, Rochester, New York, were involved in an accident at 10:14 p.m., Saturday near the intersection of North Palm Canyon Drive and Racquet Club Road.

Officers said that Fields had just turned onto Palm Canyon Drive from Racquet Club Road prior to the accident.

The right rear of Fields' car and the left side of Alexander's were damaged.

Kiner, given his release by the Cleveland American League Indians, this year, has signed a one-year contract as general manager for the San Diego club.

PLANS FOR MAKING Palm Springs an international polo center are discussed by officers of the newly organized Palm Springs Polo Association, Frank Bogert, president, left, and Ted Pierce, secretary-treasurer, who also is tournament and match director.

MODERN GOLF

By DALE ANDREASON
Golf Teacher at El Mirador Hotel

Hotel
From the balanced position described in last week's lesson, let's begin today with the backswing.

In order to get the large muscles working you must establish a musculature by wagging the club in a rhythmic manner with the shoulders, arms and hands. It is important to remember that you can contain this musculature for only a second, so once you establish it, set the club down behind the ball and immediately start the club back. To do this, wind the left shoulder, letting it act as a hub on a wheel and your arms and hands acting as the spokes. Do not at any time try to uncock your wrists. Your shoulders and arms will take care of this action in the winding process.

Gophers Get Last Chance to Regain Big 10 Prestige

By RAY W. DOHERTY
United Press Sports Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (P)—Minnesota's bruised and bent young Gophers Saturday get the Big Ten's last chance before the Rose Bowl game to show the nation it hasn't surrendered gridiron supremacy to the Pacific Coast Conference.

The Gophers' tangle with powerful, eighth-rated Southern California before a homecoming crowd of more than 63,000.

In six meetings between member schools of both conferences so far this season, the Pacific Coast teams have won four times, the first time such a thing ever happened.

Can the Gophers turn the tide against the Trojans? "I'm neutral. I won't say we'll win, I won't say we'll lose," said Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath.

The sophomore-loaded Gophers have won only one of five games, but three of those against Purdue, Illinois and Michigan were lost by a total of only 10 points.

As for Southern Cal, Warmath said his team is "pretty beat and weary from the Michigan game. I don't know if the boys can get themselves up to where they were for Michigan."

"The fact that it's homecoming might help," he added, however.

"We won't be in the best of physical shape, but we're not conceding a thing," Warmath said, "I never do."

STURGIS, Mich. (UP)—Sturgis school officials checked back through the records and decided it was about time to replace grade school desks. The records showed the desks had been in use since 1880.

P. S. Jayvees Favored Over Hemet Tonight

Palm Springs Indian Junior Varsity tonight will journey to Hemet to take on the Bulldog Jayvee. The Indians will reign as favorites on the basis of their victory over Banning who had previously defeated Hemet.

The local junior varsity will take a one won—two lost record into tonight's contest. The Papooses came back last week to down Banning 20 to 6 after suffering defeats at the hands of Elsinore and Coachella.

STARRING for Palm Springs last week were Leroy Segundo and Jan Dunham. Segundo scored one touchdown and threw for another and Dunham carried the ball across for one six pointer and was instrumental in the other two Indian scores. These boys will carry a big part of the offensive load in tonight's game.

The Palm Springs junior varsity was strengthened this week by the addition of Robert Miles, who had previously been with the varsity ranks. Miles will play in the backfield and figures to see a lot of action in tonight's game.

THE JAYVEES' probable starting line up is: ends, James
